Title: Breast cancer therapy for BRCA1 carriers: moving towards platinum standard?

Version: 1 Date: 22 December 2008

Reviewer: Charlie Gourley

Reviewer's report:

This commentary does address an important issue but does so in a limited fashion. Much of the argument centres around a single publication regarding the use of cisplatin in only 10 patients. A broader assessment of the literature pertaining to platinum sensitivity in patients carrying a BRCA1 mutation is required before this could be considered for publication.
